STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

XX

The two houses at 1116 and 1118 Guilford Avenue do not carry the Richardsonian associations of the others, but instead rely on the almost austere simplicity that characterized rows and rows of houses built during this period.

Although the corner house facade has been altered to accommodate a storefront, the reliance on simple rectilinear organization without any elaboration can be discerned in both houses. The primary significance of these houses is that they complete the block as a visual unit while retaining the scale of the block. Secondarily, these houses constitute a gentle but enlivening contrast to the visual roll of arches further up the block.
